CONVENTION IS HARD AT WORK

Electrical Workers Preparing For Change in Constitution.

WARM CONTEST IS PROMISED

POSSIBLE THAT SESSIONS MAY LAST TILL NEXT WEEK.

The business sessions of the convendon of the I. B. E. W. commenced in The sale of a twelve-room modern house Emporium hall yesterday morning at 9 o'clock. Grand President W. A. Jackson was in the chair and about 250 delegates answered the roll cal. Over 400 gates answered the roll cal. Over 400 subordinate unions had their representatives on the floor of the convention. There were representatives from every state in the Union, several places in Canada, the Pailippine islands, Japan and Australia. Two business sessions were held during the day, and in the evening the visitors enjoyed a smoker given by the members of the local priors.

Contest For Officers. There is no small amount of political tork going on in behalf of the various andidates for offices, and there will be lively fight when election day comes A lively fight when election day comes around. At present it seems probable that the election will not come off before Saturday or possibly next Monday. There are a number of candidates for the office of president, although none of them has announced himself at present. Friends, however, are engineering schemes to put them before the convention, and many caucuses are being held to arrange matters for a winning fight.

The remodeling of the winning fight.

The remodeling of the constitution will be one of the first matters of importance to come before the meeting. Already several factions have appeared and each is pulling for some special feature that to it seems of prime importance. There will no doubt be a vigorous contest on this score before the new constitution is finally completed and accepted by the convention.

The work of framing a new constitution has been placed in the hands of a special committee. This committee is composed of W. J. Glisdorf, chairmans E. P. Steen, George Burns, John Vaughan, J. E. O'Connor, J. M. Lynn, W. L. Reese, J. L. Cook, E. T. Mallory, John Westphal and M. J. Ford.

Changes in Constitution,

Changes in Constitution.

During the day a number of resolu-tions pertaining to certain changes in the constitution were introduced into the convention and were referred to this committee for consideration. The committee met in a room at the Wilson hotel last night and spent the entire evening in drafting on outline of the notel last night and spent the entire evening in drafting an outline of the revised charter. The work of the committee so far as it progressed last night will be submitted to the convention this morning for consideration and suggestions as to changes that should be made

The morning session was devoted almost entirely to the reception of reports from the committee on credentials.
These were handed in Monday and ware considered by the committee that from the committee on credentials. These were handed in Monday and were considered by the committee that night. The report was duly handled by the convention and indications were given that there will be some fights on some of the delegations.

Fight Among Factions.

It is understood that upon a minor technicality a fight is to be made against certain members of the Chicago delegation by members of another faction. But it is said that if the fight is thrown out, the same point will be raised to disqualify about sixty of the other side, and the Chicago men do not object to the fight being made.

During the afternoon a number of resolutions were introduced and acted label of the Cigar Makers' union. There was considerable "scrapping" over this matter, it is said, but it finally carried
